Moss Ticket Wins

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Pontoon Beach voters Tuesday named a new village board president, a clerk and three trustees in a heated election in which 742 votes were cast, the largest turnout ever recorded in the village.

The Village Improvement Party, headed by Floyd David Moss, village president-elect, swept nearly two-thirds of the votes and all the candidates on his ticket followed with even higher percentages.

Straight-ticket voting predominated as the VIP candidates received 440 straight ballots and the People in Action party ticket received 180.

Moss defeated his opponent Thomas W. Elliott 482 to 241, and Mrs. Corrine Kreher, clerk-elect, garnered 492 against 236 for her opponent, Mrs. Mary H. Sturdivant.

The VIP trustee candidates and the votes they received were: Raymond L. Gaudette Jr., 489; Paul L. Bennett 400, and Donald C. Rea, 510. People in Action trustee candidates received: William T. Luchini 227, Harold E. McBride 246, and Gilbert Yunger, 14.

Yunger moved from the village after the deadline for withdrawing his name from the ballot had passed.

The VIP candidates and supporters held a rally after the polls closed at the Pizza Pit Restaurant in the Gaslight Plaza Shopping Center where all awaited the election results from the village's only polling place, the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Hall.

The word for the anxious Moss came at 8:45 p.m. when several poll watchers drove into the village.

May Contract to Repair Sewers

Granite City Council members Monday night expressed growing concern over a mounting number of new breaks in Nameoki area sanitary sewer lines and questioned whether the City Street Department has the manpower or the equipment to cope with the problem.

As a result, several aldermen suggested repair work be done under contract, rather than by street department employees, and urged that City Clerk Robert Stevens be authorized to prepare contract terms for possible negotiations with local construction firms equipped to handle such work.

Alderman Walter Nonn sounded a warning that "if these breaks continue to spread, it could bankrupt the city."

Alderman Steve Basarich suggested the council vote the situation an emergency and proceed immediately with repair work under contract, even if the city has to use some of its federal revenue for sharing funds to get the job done.

The council took no action on either the contract or emergency proposals pending further reports on attempts by the street department to lower the water table in the vicinities of six known sewer breaks.

City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell told the council that work at the sewer breaks has drained much of his department's manpower from other street department work and that if the situation becomes more serious within the next month he will face a critical problem.

Portell said that a seasonal increase in street maintenance is anticipated within the next month and that it would be impossible for him to keep a majority of his workers on sewer repair work.

Alderman Sam Whitmer also favored the repair work by contract, noting that the city would have to contract for the work on a cost-plus basis since contractors are unable to determine the extent of the work until they are able to reach the lines.

Mayor Donald Parney told the council that video tapes made in 1969 when the city contracted to televisize the interior of all sewer lines in the Nameoki area are available at his office and could be projected for the council at any time.

Portell said that rebuilding of sewer lines above the old lines would be the best solution to the problem of sewer breaks. The present lines are about 13 feet underground, while the water table stands at about seven to eight feet in areas where the breaks have occurred.

Consequently it is impossible to excavate to reach the broken lines to make repairs because the excavations fill with water before the broken sewer lines can be reached.

An effort to de-water the breaks is being made through use of "well points" driven 20 feet into the ground and attached to a suction pump, he said. So

Lee, Sasyk Tickets Win

After much closer competition four years ago, the Venice city administration of Mayor John E. Lee was accorded overwhelming public approval in Tuesday's election.

Dr. Lee defeated Willie Walker 1,389 to 363 and the remainder of the Citizens' Improvement Party ticket also won easily.

In Madison, the candidates headed by Mayor Mike Sasyk won without opposition, Sasyk receiving 1,149 votes.

Turnouts totaled 1,205 in Madison and 1,814 in Venice.

The Venice balloting returned Mayor Lee to office for a fifth four-year term. The dentist's late father, a physician with the same name, was mayor of Venice for more than 31 years—from 1911 to 1915 and then from 1917 continuously until his death on Dec. 8, 1944.

City Clerk for 19 years, William M. Ebersold gained another four-year term in that office Tuesday by defeating Booker Washington 1,387 to 359. With Bernard Anderson retiring as city treasurer of Venice, M. Baucum won the position 1,421 to 320 over Henry Fletcher.

Incumbent Venice aldermen re-elected were E. Harry Bunnell of the First Ward, unopposed, receiving 317 votes; Hank A. Svezia of the Second Ward, also running without opposition, 315 votes; and John Ervin of the Third Ward, a 251-131 victor over Howard Silas.

In the Fourth Ward, the City Council post vacated by Baucum to run for treasurer, Tyrone Echols of the Citizens' Improvement Party defeated Vernon Wilson 331 to 165.

The losing candidates ran on the Independent Party ticket. A breakdown of the Lee-Walker votes in Wards One through Four, respectively, shows Dr. Lee winning 321-12, 235-160 and 318-91.

In the same order, Baucum won over Fletcher 316-10, 322-18, 240-136 and 343-156.

City Clerk Ebersold led Washington 314-8, 520-18, 219-154 and 314-179.

Ballots numbered 339, 541, 400 and 523.

Madison winners Tuesday included Mayor Sasyk, capturing a second term, 1,149 votes; John Bellocchi, city clerk for six years, re-elected with 1,131; and Hilbert Hoekstra, new city treasurer, 1,126.

Their First through Fifth Ward totals were: Sasyk, 213, 267, 287, 266 and 117; Bellocchi, 207, 252, 286, 272 and 114; and Hoekstra, 207, 257, 298 and 115.

Aldermen re-elected were Robert Don Reeves of the First Ward, 208 votes; Richard L. Kisser of the Second Ward, 230; Raymond Kozielek of the Third Ward, 272; Christ Costoff of the Fourth Ward, 275; and Booker T. Walton of the Fifth Ward, 118.

Ballots cast totaled 223, 292, 292, 284 and 124 in the First through Fifth Wards in Madison.

7-Vote GC Park Victory

Jake Hinterser, 36, of 2707 Fair Oaks Drive, a Granite City Steel Co. foreman, was elected to a six-year term on the Granite City Park District board Tuesday, rolling up 1,332 votes.

A second position on the board was decided by a margin of seven votes, incumbent Clarence Baumeyer defeating Robert Patrick 825-818.

The board post won by Hinterser is that of William Milton Worthen, retiring after 25 years of consecutive service. Worthen is a past president of the local park board and of the Illinois Association of Park Districts.

Hinterser led at all three polling places. Patrick ran ahead of Baumeyer at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

Plan Sees Mid-County, Alton Growth Patterns

(Related Articles on Pages 8 and 30.)

Population booms in the Alton area and in a linear section including Collinsville and Edwardsville are projected in a proposed 1973 Madison County land use and transportation plan discussed at a public meeting Tuesday.

Only limited growth is foreseen here and at other points in the county.

The population estimates are to be a factor in consideration of federal grants and priorities for sewage treatment plants and a wide range of other facilities.

Edmund Morrissey, chairman of the five-member Madison County Regional Planning Commission which developed the plan, said it is hoped to submit the plan for consideration by the Madison County Board at its next monthly meeting May 16.

Commissioners noted that nearly all the citizens voicing questions and comments at the Courthouse Tuesday had also been given an opportunity to speak at the commission meetings which preceded preparation of the final wording.

Some changes are planned in the tentative land use map, primarily to correct omissions of existing usages.

Among these is the Arlington Heights subdivision, which Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk pointed out at the meeting contains 150 homes and 120 apartments.

Also to be added to the proposed Highway map is a four-lane route for Freeway 413 between Highways 111 and 157. The commission agreed Tuesday to a request for its inclusion, received from Robert Kronst, district highway engineer of the state.

Kronst noted that traffic estimates indicate the freeway will be needed in addition to expanding 111 and 157 to four lanes each.

With Interstate 255 to connect the Jefferson Barracks Bridge through St. Clair County to Interstate 55, a northward freeway is needed west of Highway 157, going east of Bethalto and then west to a point near Godfrey, it was noted.

Even though the proposed land use plan calls for most of any new growth to occur in the vicinity of Alton, Collinsville and Edwardsville, questions by some environmentalists, officials and news reporters Tuesday reflected their disapproval that the wording does not ban all floodplain construction.

The plan was described as restrictive by Morrissey, who said it lists many constraints. Implementation will be up to the Madison County Board and its Zoning Board of Appeals, he reported.

New Soybean Plant

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Plans for construction of a multi-million dollar soybean crushing facility here were disclosed Monday night by an official of Archer Daniels Midland Co., Decatur.

In addition, the official indicated plans are being completed for expansion of the company's grain elevator on Carlin Road and construction of four grain silos at the Tri-City Regional Port.

The new soybean crushing plant, which will produce soybean oil and meal, will be located near the A.D.M. grain elevator which the company purchased in February.

It will employ about 45 persons and is expected to be completed and in operation "yet this year," Jim Randall, executive vice-president of A.D.M. and president of its subsidiary, Corn Sweeteners Inc., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, said Tuesday.

"This plant will have a tremendous impact on the economy of the Granite City area, particularly to the farmers," Randall said.

He said the new facility will be equipped to process 1,000 tons or 33,000 bushels of soybeans per day, but will be "easily expandable to about four times that size."

"We are putting in the largest basic equipment that we can buy, capable of processing four times the 1,000 ton per day rate," he added.

Although specifics on the plant were not disclosed, Randall described the planned facility as "an average-size soybean crushing plant."

He said it will be "a continuous highly automated process" with much of the processing equipment out-of-doors.

He indicated that although the process is a "closed process," the completed plant will resemble an oil refinery with out-of-doors pipes and equipment. The latest in pollution control equipment is included in the plans.

Planning also is continuing for construction of a new large loading elevator at the Tri-City Regional Port, he said.

"We would like to build a large terminal at the port site should be expanded."

Schuler Takes Oath; To Start Term May 1

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Paul Schuler, mayor-elect of Granite City, and two newly-elected aldermen, were administered their oaths of office for four-year terms Monday night following an official canvass by the City Council of the April 3 city election balloting.

The new aldermen are Earl Baker, 2348 O'Hare Ave., Ward Six; and Ronald Coleman, 2445 Woodlawn Ave., Ward Seven.

City Clerk Robert Stevens who also was re-elected to a new term also administered the oaths of office to five aldermen who were re-elected and to City Treasurer Paul Rutledge, also re-elected.

Outgoing Mayor Donald Partney gave the oath of office to Stevens. Terms of all those elected in the April 3 balloting will begin May 1.

R. E. Robertson, Ward Four; and Steve Basarich, Ward Five. The canvass resulted in no major changes from the unofficial totals announced by the clerk's office at the time of the election.

The canvass results set Schuler's official vote at 7,589, a reduction of 48 votes below the unofficial return of 7,637 votes. The vote first announced for Partney at 4,015 was unchanged by the Canvass.

Only two other minor changes occurred. A vote of 9,974 for City Treasurer Paul Rutledge was fixed by the canvass, down 15 votes from the unofficial total of 9,989. A one-vote increase in the tally for Mary Ann Gaughan, unsuccessful candidate for alderman of the seventh ward also was recorded. She received 215 votes, according to the canvass.

First Ward Alderman. He was ruled off the ballot in court proceedings involving a challenge of the authenticity of names on his nominating petitions.

The official vote determined by the canvass was: Mayor — Schuler, 7,589; Partney, 4,015.

Treasurer — Rutledge, 9,974; Clerk — Stevens, 10,156. Aldermen — First Ward, William Dallas, incumbent, 873; and Gates (write-in), 71; Second Ward — Frank Greenwald, incumbent, 974; and Melvin Hill, 588; Third Ward — Roy Poulos, incumbent, 1,078; and Richard Patton, 206.

Fourth Ward — R. E. Robertson, incumbent, 1,122; and John Zivich, 725. Fifth Ward — Steve Basarich, incumbent, 1,191; Sixth Ward, Earl Baker, 1,240; Arshag Astorian, 289; and Henry Kovalik, 268; Seventh Ward — Thomas Boker, incumbent, 905; Gaughan, 214.

and Ronald Coleman, 1,181. The canvass and swearing-in ceremony Monday night were the beginning of a transition period in which many changes in city administrative bodies are anticipated.

Among resignations submitted to the council Monday night, and accepted, were those of Marabeth McConnell, secretary to Mayor Partney; David Partney, son of the mayor, as a member of the Animal Shelter Board; Ralph Elliott, as chairman of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners; Attorney Richard Allen as a member of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board; Robert L. Wolford as City Hearing Inspector; and Howard Stoppotte as deputy liquor commissioner.

All of the resignations were made effective May 1. The council refused to accept the resignation of City Attorney Leon Scroggins, noting that municipal law requires a city attorney to continue in service until a qualified successor is appointed.

Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas Boker who was defeated in his bid for re-election notified the council by letter that he will be on vacation through April 30, end of the city's fiscal year. Boker said that he had enjoyed his term on the city council during the past four years.

"I wish the new mayor and council much success since, as we all know, your success is the city's future," he said.

Small Business Director Named By Gov. Walker

William J. Gray of Metropolis has been appointed by Gov. Dan Walker as the first director of the state Small Business Set-Aside Program in the Department of General Services.

The program, created by legislation enacted last April, enables general services to set aside bidding on state contracts exclusively for small businesses.

Gov. Walker said: "I would like to see this program really developed. The 'little guy' too often is shut out of doing business with the state. There should be many opportunities for the small businessman to do business with the state, but he either doesn't know how, or he believes he doesn't have a chance."

"This is a huge challenge, both for Bill Gray and the small businessman. We will do everything we can to make it successful program."

The office also will work to educate small businessmen and minority businessmen in how to deal with the state and bid on state contracts.

For the past five years, Gray was purchasing agent for Allied Chemical Corp., Metropolis. Previously, he was assistant manager of Ruan Transport Corp.

The 35-year-old administrator has been involved in several civic and church organizations and served for four years as a scoutmaster.

The Cub Scout theme fair during the weekend at St. John's Church of Christ attracted 125 area Cub Scout adult leaders.

Special booths were prepared by various Packs on the themes of the month in the Cub Scout program from May until next April, giving the adult leaders a chance to plan ahead for their pack activities and meetings.

In addition to the 12 program themes, special seminars were conducted. Mrs. Phyllis Brunsatt and Mrs. Barbara Shank conducted a seminar on the seven phases of a den meeting; while John Schroeder gave a seminar on the Cubmaster and the Pack Committee; and Floyd Jordan and Richard Fote reviewed ceremonies with the group.

Scoutmaster Robert Pieper and members of Troop 96 sponsored by the Maryville Scout PTA handled physical arrangements for the Cub leaders.

Mrs. Mary Tarpoft was the general chairman of the event. Mrs. Vee Throne was in charge of the trading post and registration was handled by Mrs. Marlene Manogian and Mrs. Arlene Laub.

Lyrics for Record By Local Woman

Hal Kapper, St. Louis, a popular area Country & Western music singer, now is singing lyrics written by a Granite City woman on his latest recording, "Mama Had No Welfare." The song now is being played on C & W radio stations throughout the Midwest.

Mrs. Gertrude Barkley, 2414 E. 25th St., wrote the words for the song and Kapper added the music. The song is a true story about the life of Mrs. Barkley's late mother and her difficulties in raising a family of seven "through hard work and lots of love," Mrs. Barkley recalled.

Mrs. Barkley was employed by Leader Department Store in Granite City 12 years and worked four years at the Granite City Army Installation.

The record, on the Top Side label, was released by the St. Louis based record firm last week.

Lybarger in Tour of New Medical School

Members of the initial first-year class of the SU School of Medicine will be guests of the school at an open house on the Carbondale campus today and Friday.

The students will meet members of the medical school's basic sciences faculty and many of them will take their first look at facilities on the campus. The class of 48 includes Jeffrey Allen Lybarger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Lybarger of Granite City.

The historic group, which will become the med school's second graduating class, will also tour Carbondale-area hospitals affiliated with the school—Doctors' Hospital, the Carbondale Clinic and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Marion.

The first-year class of 48 students, all residents of Illinois, will be the first class to complete the school's three-year program. It will graduate in June 1976.

An "advanced standing" class of 24 students, beginning two years of clinical instruction in Springfield in September, will graduate in June 1975.

In keeping with the School of Medicine's intent to provide more doctors for Downstate communities, most of the students are from central and southern Illinois, and most of them are residents of the state's less populous counties.

Of the 21 students who are residents of southern Illinois counties, five are from the local metropolitan area.

City Ok's Amendment to Dobrey Drainage Route

A proposed Dobrey Slough interim drainage project came one step closer to reality this week as the Granite City Council Monday night agreed to allow the state Division of Waterways to use city sewers to remove slough water.

John Guillou, chief state waterway engineer, indicated Tuesday that plans are nearly complete on the project and a bid call is expected yet this month for the work.

The route for the new drainage line has been proposed but have been stalemated by landowners who refused to allow rights-of-way through their properties.

Real estate representatives of the DOT have been working "day and night and Sundays" to complete negotiations on rights-of-way for the latest proposal, a department spokesman said.

The Council Monday night accepted without debate an amendment to a previous agreement which will allow the state to utilize the city's sewers in the plan.

On Feb. 19, the Council approved an agreement allowing use of the Amos Avenue sewer for the Dobrey Slough water, but only after several weeks of argument.

The new route will start with a pump and a new underground force-fed storm sewer from the west edge of the Dobrey Slough, along the south edge of Pine Street and into a manhole just east of Maryville Road.

County to Acquire Maryville Road Right-of-Way

All agreements will be subject to approval of the board prior to payment.

The new road will be located from the Maryville Road intersection with Pontoon Road in a southerly direction to Route 162 and E. 23rd Street.

If some minor problems can be ironed out," he commented.

The Tri-City Regional Port Authority Board of Directors met from 7:15 p.m. to 7 p.m. Monday to resolve the problem and a port district spokesman said this week that the difficulties nearly have been resolved, he said.

If the new four-silo elevator and loading facility is completed, it will provide employment of eight to 12 more persons, it was indicated.

"We intend to give preference in hiring to people who were at the Miles plant," Randall said. The former Marshall Division of Miles Laboratories corn milling plant was operated by Corn Sweeteners from April through October of last year but was closed when found to be "economically unfeasible" to operate.

A.D.M. purchased the plant in February when it purchased the grain elevator. Randall disclosed that several studies on possible uses for the plant are being made but repeated that no specific plans are being considered. Corn Sweeteners continues to operate a small caramel operation inside the plant.

Plans for construction of the new soybean crushing plant were brought to light Monday night when A.D.M. asked the Granite City Council for permission to tap in to the city's sanitary sewer system, a step described as necessary before the company could acquire a building permit to begin construction of the new facility.

D. F. Shimon, chief engineer for A.D.M., told the council that it is the intent of the company to annex its property to the city upon completion of a zoning change.

The property presently is zoned M-2 (heavy industrial) by Madison County and if annexed, would become a city R-1 (single family residential area).

"This classification is not appropriate for our use," the shopping center parking lot were the candidates were waiting.

Moss

Moss's reaction upon hearing of the victory was intense. He stood still for a few moments and then announced happily to those around him, "We beat them two to one."

He was escorted inside where he again made the announcement which was followed by loud cheers and congratulations. Moss and all of the candidates stood on chairs to make short speeches and toasts. Moss thanked his workers and those who voted for him, promising that all of the party's campaign pledges will be carried out.

He credited his victory to the efforts of his workers and "to the determination of those of us in Pontoon Beach that Nameoki Township is not going to run our village."

The issue of whether Elliott's use with the township were going to make him a "puppet" of Louis Whitsell, Nameoki Township supervisor, was a major theme of the VIP campaign.

During Tuesday's village balloting, Moss was served with an injunction notice by Judge Fred Schuman of the Madison County Circuit Court, prohibiting him from distributing sample ballots for his party which were marked "specimen ballot" rather than "sample ballot."

Moss alleged that the injunction was requested by Judge Schuman who allowed them to cut the words "specimen ballot" from the samples and to distribute them.

Among those to congratulate the winners was Otto Kreher, retiring village president, who commented, "I don't mind stepping down to David. He's a good man and I know he can do the job."

Also on hand were retiring trustees Fred Reer and Carl Hackney and holdover trustees John Cole and Lenard Madison.

One of those in the crowd was heard to say, "This should end the old joke of whoever runs in Pontoon Beach, the vote will end up 20 to 20."

The new village officials will be seated at a special meeting of the Village Board tonight after the votes are canvassed by the old board members.

Kreher, Hackney and Reer is trustee Don McNew.

Holdover members of the board are Cole, Madison and Dr. Dean Rochester. They have two years remaining in their terms.

Moss and Mrs. Kreher will serve two year terms as they are filling unexpired terms to which President Thomas Stalcoff and Hackney, formerly the village president, were elected.

Both longer fill those positions — Stalcoff by resignation and Hackney because it was discovered he had not resided long enough in the village to be eligible to fill the clerk's post.

County Board Delays Country Club Permit

Action on a recommended approval for a special use permit to develop a private country club with related facilities at Horseshoe Lake was delayed 60 days by the Madison County Board at its meeting Wednesday morning.

The hold-over action came on a 24-2 vote after members of the board received petitions from 85 residents listing seven specific objections.

The County Zoning Board of Appeals, which conducted a public hearing last October on the petition of Charles Whitehead and C & W Holding Co., with Daniel Callaway as its president, had recommended approval provided that the Madison County land use plan is adopted in its present form.

The land use plan is to be presented to the County Board for consideration at its May 16 meeting.

Pleading for immediate action for approval was Mrs. Sybil H. Belliss of East Alton, District 13 representative, who upheld the legal rights of the club and said "it's time to grant rezoning."

She questioned Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township whose stamp was on the envelopes in which the petitions were mailed. Whitsell, township supervisor, said township residents came to his home for his help and used his postage meter which contains his name but paid for the postage.

The proposed $1.6 million club, planned for both black and white membership with dues of $300 annually, originally was to be located on a 34-acre tract off of Bend Road, contain a golf course, and include a cocktail lounge, dining room, and tennis and handball courts.

At the public hearing the petitioners said there would be no drainage problem, and a sewage treatment plant on club property was planned with effluent to be discharged into the Cahokia Canal.

Carl Bueller of Granite City claimed that the developers control property large enough only for the building and have been unable to obtain adjoining lands, either for a golf course or for access to Cahokia Canal.

far the effort has had but slight success.

In 1969 and 1970 the city experienced a series of sewer breaks caused by heavy rains and flooding. More than $1 million was spent on repairs.

The council Monday night rejected a request by the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District that Granite City join in an area wide movement to obtain federal aid to repair damages caused by flooding this year.

Whitmer said he wants the city to have no part of the levee district.

"They (St. Clair County) have their own district and we have our own, so far as I'm concerned. We'll take care of ourselves on our own," Whitmer said.

Cougar Machine Awaits Six-Game Weekend Here

"Forget it, put it out of your minds," Coach Roy E. Lee told his Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball players after the Cougars had suffered their first loss of the season Sunday to Indiana State University at Evansville 10-4.

SIUE is now 11- for the season. This week's schedule will see the Cougars at home for a pair with Eastern Illinois University today and a couple of twin bills against Northwestern Illinois University of Chicago Friday and Saturday at Chicago Field.

SIUE's 10-game winning streak had just been abruptly terminated and Lee was talking to his charges before the start of the day's second game, which was won by the Cougars, 2-1, on the brilliant three-hit, 14 strike-out effort of their southpaw ace, sophomore Larry Johnson of Edwardsville.

The 14 K's is a new school record for an SIUE hurler in a seven-inning game. Steve Malone, the Cougars' top young pitcher from Marion, holds the Cougar nine-frame record with 16 strike outs. Malone finished his college career last June.

"We can't let ourselves get down just because we lost a game to a great pitcher," Lee exhorted his players. "If we can continue to win 11-out-of-12 games, we are a clinch to get a post-season tournament bid," he soothed his disappointed players.

The Cougars had run their undefeated season to 10-0 Saturday by turning back a very strong MacMurray College team 8-0 and at Jacksonville, Fla. in the lead-off contest, the Cougars got a standout mound job from Rife Ron Rohlfing, who fanned 10 Highlander batters and gave up only one earned run while blasting a two-run homer.

It was his third mound victory against a defeat in the second game with MacMurray; the Cougars received another top mound job by Ken Desmarre, who had an awesome job of clutch hitting from Rohlfing. Desmarre fanned seven while limiting MacMurray batters to six hits and two earned runs. He was backed with Rohlfing's bat against as Ron had a perfect 2-for-2 day at the bat with two straight home runs. Ron topped his batting average to .390 over 10 games. Ken is now 2-0 for the season.

Dale Wilderspin, who normally has fairly good control, was obviously way off form in Sunday's first game at Evansville against Indiana State University. The Cougars jumped out in front as Bobby Graves coaxed a walk and scored on Jerry Pilcher's single.

ISU tied it up, 1-1, in his half, as Wilderspin hit the first of two batters. Indiana moved in front, 2-1, again after Dale had hit another batter. But, Wilderspin was really wild in the third when he walked the first three ISU batters to face him and then departed for reliever Sam Stewart who was greeted by two straight ground balls through the third-base line.

Larry Johnson helped his own cause in his winning effort. His long smash single to left drove in Jo Jo Crenshaw with the winning run in the second frame. The Cougars had taken a 1-0 lead as Bobby Graves singled to lead off the first inning and then scored on Jerry Pilcher's ground out roller to first.

The Cougar victory in the second game came over Ron Korman, the pitcher who beat SIUE last year, 2-1.

Law Officers Hear New In-Classroom Approach

Classroom presentations which bring out "gut answers" to questions most frequently asked by students are being successfully implemented elsewhere in Illinois and may portend future curriculum changes in area school districts, Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission members learned last night.

Convened at Charlie's Restaurant, 24 commissioners and about 45 members of the SILEC Steering Committee heard Dr.

Robert H. Ratcliff, executive director of the Law in American Society Foundation, review the new approach to in-classroom programs concerning law enforcement and judicial process.

The guest speaker is professor of education at the University of Illinois Circle Campus, Chicago, and the author-editor of 22 books in the field of education. He was introduced by the commission's presiding officer, Judge Harold R. Clark, Third Judicial Circuit, co-chairman.

Dr. Ratcliff said that teams of teachers from school districts and colleges are being instructed in a four-week training series at the Illinois U. campus prior to inserting classroom law enforcement teaching in a school system.

In most instances the new approach to law enforcement and judicial procedures supplements or replaces the usual civics course, the educator said.

Mock trials are held and group discussions and presentations deal with such topics as disturbances, the rights of police, press and individuals to questions on mortgages at the classroom level, enabling the young people to receive straight answers to "gusty problems" in which they are most interested, Dr. Ratcliff said.

In other business, the directors and members were advised that the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission has approved grant applications to the East St. Louis Youth Service Bureau, amounting to $100,798; State Community College of East St. Louis, $34,918; and Western

Rapid Bluff Area Urbanization Forecast in County's Land Plan

(Following is a partial text of the tentative Madison County land use plan proposed Tuesday by the Madison County Regional Planning Commission. It is expected to be acted upon by the County Board at its May 16 meeting.)

Madison County had a 1970 population of 250,004 persons and developed areas comprising 12% or 56,104 acres of its total land area.

This is an urban county with extensive industrial areas, major employment centers, and a variety of urban cities creating regional commercial and local commercial opportunities.

Madison County is also a rural county with 88% of its lands or 413,016 acres as nonurban or agricultural land.

Population projections indicate that population growth will reach a high of 383,023 persons by 1990, which is an increase of 132,089 or 53%.

Using these population projections, it is estimated that 66,226 total acres will be required for residential use, 3,281 acres for commercial use and it is desirable to allocate 20,445 acres for industrial uses.

The remaining lands within the county, 378,183 acres, would consist of non-urban or agricultural lands.

The Madison County Regional Planning Commission was given the responsibility by the County Board, of recommending the amount, kind and location of various land uses that would be needed to accommodate the county's projected population by 1990.

Deliberations by the Planning Commission concerning land use trends, developmental potential and problems, population parameters and other factors have resulted in the land use and transportation recommendations of this plan.

Planning Commission land use recommendations, added to existing land uses, would result in 89,332 acres of developed land or 27.18% of the county's land area.

This plan update is part of a continuing planning process initiated in the county in 1960.

Evert Kincaid and Associates, a Chicago planning consultant, was employed by the County Board in 1960 to produce the land use plan for the unincorporated portions of the county, to prepare an analysis of population and economic base data, and standards for a proposed zoning ordinance for the unincorporated portions of the county.

After the formulation of the land use plan, standards for a proposed zoning ordinance and designation of proposed zoning districts were prepared.

After public hearings and modification, the county zoning ordinance was adopted on Feb. 20, 1963.

In August 1967, the County Board contracted with the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission to carry out the first phase of the formulation of a general plan.

This work was performed with the support of the federal government and coordinated with the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

This program, carried out concurrently for Madison and St. Clair Counties, resulted in a series of reports concerning population, economic base, transportation and land use, and was published in the spring of 1969.

This series of reports comprise an analysis of existing conditions within Madison and St. Clair Counties and constituted a portion of the total St. Louis metropolitan area inventory and analysis carried out through East-West by various planning commissions in the metropolitan area.

In January 1969, the County Board contracted with the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission to assist in preparing land use and transportation elements for a county plan which was completed and published in December 1969. This plan was formally adopted or put into effect.

In April 1972, the Madison County Board created the Madison County Regional Planning Commission. The principal task assigned to the commission was to review and revise the proposed 1969 plan which had not been adopted by the County Board.

In response to this assigned responsibility, the commission and the County Board contracted with the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission for technical planning assistance necessary to update and modify the plan of 1969.

The St. Louis metropolitan area is located virtually at the center of the nation's population.

Within 500 miles of the St. Louis metropolitan area, more than one-third of all the people in the nation live and more than one-third of the nation's total economic activity takes place.

The area is served by the inland waterway which includes the Missouri, Mississippi, Illinois and Ohio Rivers.

The area is well served by other modes of transportation with extensive rail yards, interstate highways and a metropolitan airport.

Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties constitute the Illinois portion of the metropolitan area.

One of the factors which profoundly affected the character of growth in the eastern portion of the metropolitan area is its geography.

While the City of St. Louis is situated on higher ground, the western portion of Madison and St. Clair Counties, as well as Monroe County, is made up of alluvial bottomland, locally known as the American Bottoms.

Much of this low land was subject to flooding from the Mississippi River. This has been remedied by the levee system, but some of the area is still subject to inundation from internal drainage.

A line of bluffs forms a distinct topographic feature in the county, sharply separating the American Bottoms from the upland area to the east.

This upland area rises abruptly from the valley floor to heights of over 400 feet in certain areas of Monroe County and lesser heights in Madison County.

The upland area is generally characterized by rolling topography, dissected by small streams, and consists largely of farms and undeveloped land, interspersed with small to medium-size communities. In its historic growth as an urbanized area, coal mining of both the shaft and strip mine variety affected the character of urbanization.

A number of communities were established at the mouth of coal mines and underground mining was prevalent until a few decades ago. Strip mining is still a significant industry in St. Clair and may become significant in Madison County.

Since the turn of the century, the population of the Illinois portion of the metropolitan area has increased steadily but at a slower rate than the west side.

The half million people who live in the Illinois area constitute about one-fourth of the total metropolitan area population. The settlement pattern has concentrated the population primarily in a broad band along the Mississippi River in low-density urban areas.

In terms of total growth and urban expansion in the metropolitan area, the Illinois portion has a substantial reserve for future growth relative close to the center of the area.

An era of rapid urbanization in the area seems imminent; projections reviewed in this report indicate that the area's population will increase at an accelerated rate during the next few decades.

The area's importance for residential purposes is expected to increase as suitable living accommodations, services and amenities are made available.

The completed portions of the Interstate highway system and new high-speed bridge crossings have already opened new land for development by providing access to thousands of acres within minutes of the St. Louis metropolitan core area.

The area has prime locational advantages which are necessary for further industrialization and, as indicated, is located at the center of the population and market of the nation at the southwestern edge of the north-eastern manufacturing belt.

The area is one of the largest rail centers in the country and has direct access to the Mississippi inland waterway system. And abundant mineral resources are readily available.

It is anticipated that employment opportunity in the area will increase through the expansion of existing industry as well as through continued growth of the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University and Scott Air Force Base, through the development of Tri-City Port District and through continued commercial expansion.

Planned development such as the industrialization along the Kaskaskia Navigation Project, a major metropolitan airport, industrial parks and major shopping centers will also have a substantial impact concerning increases in the number of jobs and population.

The American Bottoms have been extensively utilized in the past by industries such as oil refining, steel plants, packing houses, chemical works, rubber reclamation works and other industries.

National rail and highway networks converge in the American Bottoms at the heavy industrial-urban complexes of Alton-Wood River, the Tri-Cities area and East St. Louis.

In its historic development, the character of urban development in the American Bottoms has been of a highly industrialized nature characterized by both heavy industries requiring large acreages and by a variety of light industry.

The continually improved climate for urban growth in the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area represents a unique opportunity to guide and direct this new development so as to put emphasis upon quality, rather than just quantity.

Comprehensive regional planning is the tool which can help elected officials in the provision of services and the guidance of growth through coherent policy with minimum of duplication or conflict.

This report is an attempt to provide an appropriate basis for planning regional growth and the development of area-wide services.

Comprehensive land use planning provides the basis upon which more effective and more informed decision-making may take place.

One of the principal contributions of the planning process is to provide appropriate information upon which day-to-day decisions may be made, while giving due consideration to long-range programs and goals.

The planning process and the published planning document provide public officials and interested citizens with essential information about their area.

In essence, the plan is an interpretation of this data which outlines area potentials and the local policy required to achieve the desired physical development.

The comprehensive plan provides a means of communication and coordination of common interests between agencies, officials and developers and clearly delineates guidelines for desired physical development in the area.

The plan contains statements for public policy which may be referred to by developers and other individuals interested in the area, so they may know the policy of elected officials.

The plan provides an opportunity for systematic problem solving.

When an opportunity or an undesirable trend is recognized, it is possible to deliberately and publicly revise official public policy in such a way as to redirect efforts to obtain desired development.

The plan is not intended to be a rigid framework for future development, but, rather, a broad outline for harmonious and coordinated physical development in the county.

It has been designated to be used by the County Board, county and municipal officials and administrators, as well as private developers, entrepreneurs and the general public as a guide in making decisions relative to physical development.

The plan represents proposed policy recommendations for adoption by the County Board and should be periodically revised as changing conditions require.

The plan shows the essential relationships which must be established and preserved among the various public service facilities—as well as the uses of privately-owned land—desired community and area-wide objectives are to be attained.

sought to pinpoint differences between the Regional Planning Commission created to draft the plan and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, which provided technical assistance.

Morrissey called on Laird Starick, SIMAPC general planning coordinator, who said the completed plan and may be a joint recommendation of the commissioners and planners.

Others present from SIMAPC were Darrell Thompson, senior planner, who reviewed map symbols, and Bob Wydra, water resource coordinator.

The full non-salaried commission was present, including Orval Burk, Clarence Kosten, John Mull and John Ubaldi.

County Board members attending included James E. Greene, Michael Semanish, J. J. Gramlich and Sibyl H. Belliss. About 40 persons were present.

Among the highway projects listed for construction during the next five years are four-lane improvement of Maryville Road here and completion of the Great River Road through Granite City, Madison and Venice.

Five-to-10-year plan recommendations include alignment of Interstate 255 generally following the area of Highway 111.

The proposed land use plan sees a population growth of 33,657 by 1990 in Planning District One, the northwestern part of Madison County. That area is estimated to grow from 101,982 to 135,639.

District Four, in the south-central area and including Collinsville and Edwardsville, is shown as nearly doubling in population with a 43,531 gain, from 50,167 to 93,698, surpassing the Quad-Cities.

The local area, District Two, situated in southwest Madison County, is pictured as gaining 17,494, from 72,581 to 89,605.

A 15,032 increase, more than doubling the population of District Three, also is shown; the northern and northeastern portions of the county are listed as probably rising from 12,055 to 27,037 in population.

District Five, the southwestern section is shown with a 2,845 increase, from 11,219 to 14,064.

These figures indicate a 132,069 population gain for the en-ture county, from 250,934 to 383,023.

Residential acres in the county are projected as rising from 42,122 to 66,226; commercial acres from 2,028 to 3,201; and industrial acres, 11,954 to 20,445.

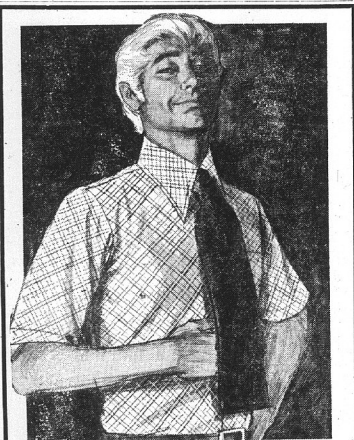

These figures for District Two, the Quad-Cities, are: residential, 6,730 to 12,736; commercial, 468 to 684; and industrial, 2,475 to 7,150.

The new plan is regarded as part of a continuing planning program instituted in Madison County in 1960. It is an update of a 1963 proposal, which lacked majority support of the County Board of Supervisors.

Passage of a land plan in some form this spring has extensive backing among the public and on the current board.

The precise wording will be up to the 29-member County Board.

Commissioners who had been asked to prepare a 1973 proposal indicated Tuesday they are generally satisfied with its content and will be present at the May board meeting to answer any questions about it.

Amendment for State Board to Consider Junior College Use of Existing Facilities

The original junior college bill introduced in the 1973 session, sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadalabene, has introduced an amendment to the Illinois Junior College Act, sought by a Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce study group.

The amendment states, "In reviewing the application (for a new junior college district), the State (Junior College) Board shall consider the feasibility of any proposed utilization of existing public or private educational facilities and land within or in near proximity to the boundary of the proposed district."

NEWS NOTES

The U. S. House and Senate both passed a bill Wednesday providing $543 million over the next three years for varied programs to aid the elderly. Both approved $872 million to help students attend college this fall.

The U. S. Senate recessed Wednesday for 11 days, postponing a vote on extending the wage-price control law until the day the law expires, April 30. The Senate declined 35-31 to return the bill to a conference committee to drop some of the provisions, despite belief that the House will reject a bill worked out Tuesday by conferees.

Illinois Senate Republicans on Monday introduced bills for 16 freeway projects costing $821 million, omitting this area and a proposed road from Moline-Rock Island through Madison County to East St. Louis.

The action occurred before an expected announcement on freeway preferences of Gov. Daniel Walker, who earlier ordered a freeze on freeway construction to permit a study of priorities.

The governor Tuesday denied the GOP senators' contention that Illinois has enough highway bond money and motor fuel tax reserves left to build the 16 highway segments listed. Walker said the 16 roads would cost $922 million and that the transportation bond fund contains only $381 million unappropriated, instead of the $540 million reported by the senators.

Edward J. Barrett, 73, who was removed as Cook County clerk after being convicted of accepting $180,000 in bribes from the head of a voting machine firm and $3,000 from a company that insured the machines, was sentenced Tuesday to three years in prison and was fined $15,000. He is a former Illinois secretary of state and formerly visited here often.

The U. S. Supreme Court decided 6-2 Tuesday to narrow the opportunities prison inmates have to fight the constitutionality of their convictions. It ruled that, long after being convicted, they cannot challenge the racial makeup of the grand juries that indicted them.

It was reported this week that volunteers, helping sandbag Illinois levees this spring were required to sign state-U. S. loyalty oaths in order to qualify for state workers' compensation in the event of injury or death while working as civil defense volunteers.

Dr. Cameron West, University of North Carolina vice-president of planning, has accepted the post of executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education effective June 1, it was announced Monday.

A 17-member special committee chosen to recommend changes in Illinois school financing failed to reach agreement and submitted three alternatives Tuesday to State Supt. Michael Bakalis. They are: full state funding of public schools, modification of the present aid method based on enrollment, and a formula based on how heavily each district taxes itself for education.

Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, Alton, one of the more outspoken foes of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, said Tuesday she thinks it has been defeated. With 13 states able to defeat an amendment, 16 have rejected it and a 17th, Nebraska, has voted to rescind its ratification, she reported. Twenty-nine other states have ratified it, and some of these will reconsider, she said.

An 86-mile regional rapid transit system, including Kirtwood-St. Louis commuter rail line and a line from East St. Louis to the Waterloo airport site, might cost $1,957,188,000—$342,689,000 more than a 1971 estimate—an East-West Gateway Coordinating Council report showed Monday.

President Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday a member of his staff will appear voluntarily when requested by a Senate committee studying espionage against the Democratic party.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

Any aides indicted will be suspended, and any convicted will be fired, he said.

President Nixon yesterday asked Congress to end U.S. price curbs on new natural gas production, and said he will halt tariffs on imported crude oil.

Noting that this nation with 6% of the world population uses a third of the world's energy, he said short-term steps were needed while awaiting "new, clean and virtually unlimited power sources." He urged prompt Congressional approval of the proposed Alaska oil pipeline.

Faces Conduct Charge
Michael Glosman, 17, and John W. Griffin, 20, both of St. Louis, were arrested in Madison and charged with disorderly conduct at 11:40 p.m. Thursday, after they allegedly left a Madison restaurant without paying their bill. They were released on $25 bond each pending a May 8 hearing.

EDWARDS STREET CRASH
The autos of David Kelly, 3205 Wayne Ave., and Celeste Puryear, 2519 Edwards St., were damaged in an accident in the 2300 block of Edwards Street at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday.

A lawn mower was stolen from the patio at the rear of the home of Joseph Pingel, 907 Greenwood St., Madison, Pingel reported at 1:20 p.m. Wednesday.

In Farmyard Settings

Twenty-nine playful puppies and a number of frisky kittens will be offered for adoption Saturday in a farm-style setting arranged by the Quad-City Animal Society.

Miss Helen Grotz, project chairman, said adoptions can be made between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday in a special area adjacent to the rear driveway at Granite City High School, near State Street and Fehling Road.

Two large red and white checkered tents, loaned by Ralston Purina Co., will be erected at the adoption clinic site, Miss Grotz said.

In addition to pets available to new owners, the APA will display several farm animals for the enjoyment of young children, the chairman said. Goats, horses, rabbits and turkeys will be among the farmyard residents to be exhibited.

All pets to be offered have received their initial distemper shots, the APA officer said. A minimal donation is required to adopt an animal, with the amount varying, she explained. Funds collected in this manner help to pay the cost of inoculations and the remainder is added to the APA education fund.

Children's Egg Hunt in Downtown GC Saturday

An Easter Egg Hunt for children up to 10 years old will take place from 2 to 3 p.m. Saturday in Civic Park, located in the 1300 block Niedringhaus Avenue, under sponsorship of the Downtown Granite City Merchants Association. It was announced today by Charles Hayes, president.

A special visitor at the hunt will be a large size "Easter Bunny" who will tour streets in the downtown area from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday, dispensing candy treats to youngsters, Hayes said.

Earl Harris, project chairman, said any child bringing home his or her own container which to collect the eggs and who is accompanied by an adult may join in seeking the hundreds of multi-colored plastic eggs filled with jelly beans, to be hidden in the park area.

Three $5 awards will be presented, together with 10 silver dollars as special prizes, Harris reported. Children finding eggs marked "first" or "second" will receive a $5 cash award, along with the youngest collecting the most eggs in the contest. Specialty marked eggs will denote the winners of the 10 silver dollars, the chairman said.

Parents are reminded that free parking is available at the 18th Street and Edison Avenue lot. Children gathering eggs may not be assisted by their adult companions, Harris said.

Local Emphasis In Mental Health Planning is Urged

Copley News Service

Springfield—The Illinois Mental Health Planning Board has reported to the Illinois General Assembly that in the future planning for mental health needs should be done by local communities.

The board, headed by Mrs. Robert S. Ihrig, said, in its report that to have the local communities involved in the planning would mean that the citizen could best be served at the time of his need.

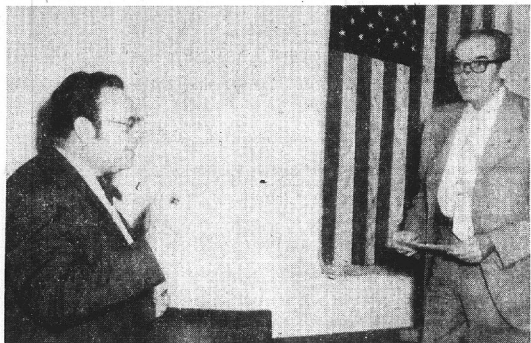

Created by the 73rd General Assembly, it is to develop recommendations for long-range mental health planning and a statewide mental health and retardation program.

The board also recommended that planning for community services be accelerated through the regions of the Mental Health Department scattered throughout the state.

It is also pushing for the funding of a proposed pilot program which seeks to offer a skilled planning team to help some selected communities in developing a plan for mental and physical health services.

Another recommendation of the board states that at the three levels—state, regional and local—alternatives to admission to state hospitals should be developed and utilized.

It also recommended that legal services be made available to the mentally ill, as necessary.

OATH OF OFFICE for a new four-year term is taken by City Clerk Robert Stevens, left, from Mayor Donald Partney during a regular meeting of the Granite City Council Monday night. Stevens was re-elected in the April 3 city election without opposition. His new term will begin May 1.

sary, at the time of commitment hearings, during the time of hospitalization and at the time of discharge.

The board recommended that prevention of mental and emotional disorders be a significant focus of the regional and local levels and that a major thrust should be provision of mental health services in the school system.

The board also took note of recent trends in trying to cut down large mental health facilities.

The board recommended that there be an immediate reevaluation of the size and function as well as the location of present facilities, with preference being given to establishment small residential treatment centers within local communities.

National Marine Reopens Facility

Operations at National Marine Service's Granite City harbor facility resumed Tuesday after having been closed two and a half weeks by high water in the Chain of Rocks Canal.

Only one line which is used to unload liquids was in operation this week as water continued to cover the electrical boxes for the liquid fertilizer and caustic soda lines. A company spokesman estimated another week will be required before damaged electrical motors and wiring can be replaced and full operations resume.

The Bulk Service Corp. operations at the Tri-City Regional Port resumed a week ago today and has been operating 24 hours per day in an attempt to decrease the backlog of materials to be loaded and unloaded from barges.

Spokesmen for both Bulk Service and National Marine indicated the anticipated rise in the canal level this week will not affect operations.

Blackburn Students Recall Flood Fight

Twenty-one students from Blackburn College, Carlinville, were among those who drove to Chouteau Island to help with flood control April 3 and 4.

Looking back on it this week, spokesman Bob Mark said they were put to work immediately filling sand bags, stacking them and loading them into boats.

Mark reported that the Red Cross was present, working along with numerous religious organizations who were helping to feed hungry persons.

Commenting on the situation, Mark said, "It was hard to see what we were fighting at night, but in the morning it was clearer. There was water everywhere."

Day Camp Inspections And Licensing in This State for First Time

Copley News Service

Springfield — Over the years, thousands of Illinois parents have sent their children off to youth day camps, unaware that the camps were not being inspected by anyone for health or safety standards, or whether they met minimum standards for water safety.

This year, all those camps—which operate only during the day and do not keep youngsters overnight—will be inspected and licensed like resident camps.

The Public Health Department will add the day camps to its inspection program, in line with a recent ruling by Atty. Gen. William Scott that the intention of the legislature in adopting the Youth Camp Health and Safety Act was that such camps should be included.

Scott issued the opinion in reply to a request by Dr. Franklin Yoder, who at the time was director of the Public Health Department. The reply was sent to Dr. Yoder's successor, Dr. Jevette Lashof, now acting department director.

The act spells out a number of areas in which certain standards must be met, such as food service, a safe drinking water supply, provisions for sanitary waste disposal and swimming area safety.

The act was drawn to cover situations where five or more children under 18 years of age attended either a day camp or resident camp for a period of five days or more.

The "five days or more" aspect had previously been interpreted to exempt day camps, often billed as "baseball camps" or "Bible camps" or even remedial reading or other tutoring camps, since youngsters frequently attended only two or three days a week.

In his ruling, Scott held that the five days which the child attended the camp need not be consecutive, noting that if this were not so, a camp could operate "four days a week for three months and not be subject to the provisions" of the act.

Verdell Randolph of the Public Health Department said the act gives a camp up to three years to correct certain conditions, but any condition which poses an actual immediate health hazard requires immediate action.

Licenses are good for one year and require payment of $25. Refusal to correct the cited deficiencies within the time allowed is a misdemeanor. Carrying a fine of $100 to $500, Randolph said.

So far, about 20 camps have applied for licenses for the coming camping season, he said. Last year, 143 resident camps were licensed to operate in the state.

TIRES, WHEELS STOLEN

Robert Bury, 101 Riviera Drive, reported at 1 a.m. Tuesday that someone stole the tires and wheels from his 1963 auto which was parked at his home after 9 p.m. Monday. They were valued at $175.

County Board Approves More Court Facilities

The Madison County Board approved an emergency appropriation to provide for additional judicial space at the county seat in Edwardsville and placed on first reading a resolution creating a Public Buildings Commission during a meeting Wednesday morning at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

The appropriation came as a result of negotiations with circuit judges and of a court order demanding immediate action.

Under the provisions, the offices of the state's attorney and public defender will move from the third floor of the courthouse to the second and third floors and an old bank building across the street.

That space would provide for one court room. A five-year lease for a building at 111 N. Second St., also across the street from the courthouse, has been arranged, with the land to be removed to it to court-ordered specifications for rent of $475 plus 1% of the remodeling costs per month.

It will house court rooms, and $10,000 was provided to construct court benches, desks, jury boxes, furniture and fixtures.

With the state's attorney and public defender was set aside $60,000, with $3,500 necessary for modifications and repairs. Their current offices will be used solely for judicial activities, house jurors and witnesses and provide space for conferences.

The action was not automatic. Robert Ford of Wood River was critical of judges and their methods, while James Heil of Godfrey, a lawyer, expressed comments explaining the judicial system.

Commenting on complaints of overcrowding, Ford said "Many, many times the courts have been empty. Many times the jury wait but the judge doesn't appear until the afternoon."

Speaking on dismissal of criminal cases, he added "They turn people loose because of a backlog. I feel that is due to a lack of planning and coordination."

"Some judges park their cars out of town and then jog into town while the jury is waiting. One allegedly jogs on the roof of the courthouse. Judges should spend more time on the job just like everybody else when they get behind."

He remarked that "we have only one court room for 14 judges. They are asking for one more court room (for criminal cases)."

He defended the position of the courts and also blamed police departments, the state's attorney's office and lawyers.

"It is not all so simple," he said. "There are five or six judges on the civil side who don't have court rooms. No lawyer wants to be here all day trying minor cases."

"There is one family judge in the county, and we run over 3,000 divorces last year," Heil noted.

J. J. Granlich, board finance committee chairman, said use of federal sharing funds is being considered to finance the project.

During the discussion Nelson Hagnauer, board chairman, reminded the board of the court order and commented:

"None of us appreciate the way it was done. The finance and building committees started in December to solve this."

"I think we could have gotten something worked out without a court order. The judges should run the county board and the county board should run the county board."

Under the buildings commission resolution, to be presented for final adoption next month, the board chairman will appoint five commissioners with the advice and consent of the board. They are to be experienced in

Full Time Civil Defense Coordinator Recommended

William L. Eisele, mutual aid area coordinator for Civil Defense, recommended efforts of the Madison County CD office, its director, Ted Todoff, and all persons involved in work on levees at Chouteau Island.

He recommended that the county hire a full-time CD coordinator. Todoff serves on a part-time basis, and J. J. Gramlich of Highland, finance committee chairman, said that "we would like to hire Todoff full time in the next budget."

A review of the emergency operations along the flooding Mississippi River was conducted, and aerial films taken by Jack Clifford, county building and zoning officer, are to be shown at the May 16 meeting of the board.

Nelson Hagnauer, board chairman, noted that more than 5,000 volunteers were on hand during sand-bagging operations. He condemned remarks made by a board member and published in a north county newspaper which were scurrilous about the county CD and the rescue operations.

James E. Greene of East Alton said Hagnauer's remarks were aimed at him and indicated that his opinions were unchanged. Robert Ford of Wood River related a discussion with Gov. Dan Walker in which the governor said that he was "proud of the Madison County response and feels very strongly about Civil Defense and volunteer efforts in the county." Ford noted that, according to the governor, there would be no cut in the state CD budget.

Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township advised investigating federal flood insurance and reported that some county and Civil Defense equipment failed to operate properly. "We're going to have to spend some money for equipment," Whitsell said.

Jay Maurer of Venice said county CD budgets have not permitted acquisitions of new equipment, and one of the trucks which failed at the levee was a 1946 model.

Hagnauer remarked that "we should look into getting better equipment when drawing up the next budget." James Hill of Godfrey said that "Todoff did the job of coordinating and all he needs is the equipment."

In other business the board: Approved a resolution supporting a bill in the U. S. House to continue the federal emergency employment program for another two years.

The board received a letter from the U. S. Department of Labor that funds for the program had been appropriated only for the 1972 and 1973 fiscal years and that the program will end in June 1974.

More than 170 persons have been employed in Madison County under the program. A letter from Sen. Percy said he would continue to support the program.

Placed on first reading a dog leash law for unincorporated areas of the county.

Heard a report from Whitsell that an application has been made for a federal and state grant for park acquisition.

Placed on first reading a resolution adjusting personnel policy. It was noted that the changes do not call for expenditure of funds but are mechanical.

Approved purchase of 75 radios for the sheriff's department from A&E Electronics of St. Louis, sole bidder which listed a cost of $89.69, subject to approval of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission which would provide 75% in federal matching funds.

Authorized a call for bids for 13 18,000 BTU air conditioning units and one 21,000 BTU air conditioner for county offices.

Set the regular meeting of the board for the second Monday of June (June 11) and the annual meeting for the second Tuesday of September (Sept. 11), with recessed meetings on May 16, July 18, Aug. 15, Oct. 17, Nov. 21, Dec. 19, Jan. 16, Feb. 20, March 13 and April 17.

Children living in the Granite City Park District are invited to take part in the annual Easter egg hunt, scheduled at Wilson Park rink pavilion Saturday morning.

The hunt is to be staged inside the rink area in which mounds of straw will be placed to cover the eggs. Youngsters will be divided into three separate age divisions to seek the Easter treats.

First grade pupils will hunt at 9 a.m. Saturday, followed by kindergarten students at 10:15 a.m. and pre-schoolers at 11:30 a.m.

Each child should bring a basket or container to collect his eggs. Harold Brown, GC park superintendent, reminded parents.

Prizes will be awarded in each age category, the park official said, including to the child finding the "golden egg," the boy and girl collecting the most eggs and to the child who discovers the largest number of eggs.

Parents may observe the proceedings from the rink's outer rail, but children are required to seek the eggs unaided, Brown said.

Annual Egg Hunt at Wilson Park Saturday

Children living in the Granite City Park District are invited to take part in the annual Easter egg hunt, scheduled at Wilson Park rink pavilion Saturday morning.

Comment and Analysis

April 19, 1973

Voters Spoke Out Decisively Tuesday in Electing Candidate Slates in the City of Venice and Village of Pontoon Beach

Voters selected municipal officials in the Quad-Cities Tuesday by decisive margins.

Substantial vote totals were tallied for the Venice ticket headed by Dr. John E. Lee, who won his fifth four-year term as mayor by a margin of more than 1,000.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, winning a second term, and his ticket were elected without opposition, polling more than 1,100 votes.

The Village of Pontoon Beach, which has seen a series of close elections in the past, backed the Village Improvement Party and its candidate for village president, Floyd

David Moss, by 2-1 margins.

In Granite City Park District balloting, Jack Hinterer captured one of two board positions by almost a 2-1 margin. The other post went to incumbent Clarence Baumeister in the day's closest race.

In the many clear-cut election decisions, Quad-Cityans spoke out unmistakably regarding their preferences.

If citizens match this with active interest in the performance of the officeholders during the new terms, the degree of contact between the public and its elected representatives is likely to result in good governmental policies and administration.

Filing of State, Federal Forms Now a Massive Task

Comment by Illinois Small Business Men's Association continues continuing against encroaching federal bureaucracy.

The National Archives has cataloged over 700,000 current federal forms. The payroll cost alone to business to fill out these forms is estimated at $18 billion, while another $18 billion in taxes is spent by the government to print and store its forms.

Social Security taxes increased to 11.7% Jan. 1 on employees (maximum $1,263, half deductible from employer's pay, 1974 maximum is $1,400).

The Illinois Unemployment Compensation Tax experience rate will increase 30% to 50% this year due to high UC claims since the 1971-72 recession. Claims must be contested by return mail in order to reduce the UC tax.

New employers pay 2.7% state UC tax for three years, and then 0.1% to 4.0% depending on whether they have paid cause for dismissal. Federal tax is 0.5% (0.58% in 1973), but the bureaucratic tax return uses the formula 3.2% less 2.7% credit for payment of the Illinois UC tax. Firms are entitled to 2.7% credit even if they paid less to the state.

All employers are now required to file with the Illinois Industrial Commission a report of occupational illnesses arising out of and in the course of employment, resulting in the loss of more than one scheduled work day, or inability to continue performing the duties of a regular job; fine for failure to file is $100 to $200.

The State Department of Labor made 36,000 safety inspections last year, finding 300,000 violations, and will add 23 more inspectors this year.

Those who occasionally swallow their pride report that it is non-fattening.

19 Edwardsville Parties to Accommodate the 19 Candidates

With 19 candidates for seven offices in the April 7 Edwardsville election, there seemed to be an adequate number of parties to represent them—Active, Positive Action, Interested Citizens, Progressive, Citizens Government, People's Citizens for Progressive Government, Community Service, Concerned Citizens, Edwardsville Citizens, Citizens for a Better Community, Citizens for Responsive Government, Progress, Citizens Service, Dependable, Progressive, Citizens Service Party and Improvement Party.

We hope the county seat municipality can stand all of that citizenship and progress.

It is true that Americans have a tremendous crime bill each year, but remember that we get a lot of crime for our money.

Leading Role by Blair in Cutting Tax on Food, Drugs

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service

Springfield—It's true. There's a new Bob Blair.

All of a sudden House Speaker W. Robert Blair of Springfield is est, is developing into a leader of the stature that many of his legislative colleagues frankly did not think he would ever attain.

The 42-year-old attorney and real estate man is not yet about to win any popularity contests beneath the Statehouse Dome. The wounds of that January battle for the House speaker's office are far from healed.

Nor is the basic Blair personality one that easily wins friends and influences people. But he has been improving.

Speaker Blair is a highly intelligent if not brilliant person and when he resists temptation to petty vindictiveness and applies himself to the "nuts and bolts" job of legislative leadership, he does a good job.

After that early turbulence, the House has settled down to a workmanlike operation. Blair has not been a flood of bills passed, but the body is nevertheless advancing through the session at a decent pace and in an orderly fashion.

In deed, the House like the smaller Senate is considerably "ahead" of Gov. Dan Walker in this first legislative session of the new administration.

It has been Walker's relinquishing of governmental initiative to the legislative branch that has enabled Blair, as well as other leaders in both parties in the House and Senate, to move into more prominent positions of importance and leadership than would otherwise be the case.

In the Senate, President Pro Tem, and a Republican Majority Leader William C. Harris of Pontiac and Democratic Floor Leader Cecil A. Partridge of Chicago have been playing a more direct role in state government affairs than legislative leaders usually do.

GC to Be Nation's 1st Steelmaker Substituting Refuse for Iron Ore

(Second of two columns)

To explain how it is trying to cope with difficult environmental quality control challenges, Granite City Steel Co. has assembled detailed background material on a variety of its undertakings.

In this space Monday, under the heading, "Air pollution fought here with 'first anywhere in world' devices," was a discussion of the coke ovens, blast furnaces and sinter plant.

To round out the anti-pollution program, it is necessary also to deal with the basic oxygen furnaces and other pollution sources.

The plant also is engaged in fights against water pollution and solid wastes.

The basic oxygen furnaces are the destination of a one-mile rail journey for the pig iron produced here. At the furnaces, it is refined with scrap to make steel.

Granite City Steel's "BOF shop" is one of the largest oxygen steelmaking installations in America, a report of 2.3 million tons of steel a year.

Oxygen, blown onto molten pig iron, scrap and limestone in the BOF, reacts violently with impurities in the pig iron and scrap, generating big quantities of waste gases.

The BOF Shop went into service in 1967, replacing seven open hearth process furnaces which were the company's—not the area's—greatest single source of particulate.

In addition to offering production and quality advantages, the BOF Shop was designed to contain an advanced, $3.5 million high-efficiency waste gas cleaning system.

The gas cleaning system handles more than a million cubic feet of exhaust gas per minute.

It cools the gas within seconds from temperatures approaching 3,500 degrees, as it leaves the furnace, to about 45 degrees as it enters three double-chamber electrostatic precipitators, where more than 99.5% of the dust is removed.

The system is designed to reduce residual dust emission well below the state's code.

In the BOF precipitators, cooled, dust-laden gas is drawn by 1,000-horsepower fans, through narrow lanes or channels between collecting electrodes.

An electrical field traveling across the channels separates the dust particles by creating electrostatic charges on their surfaces, which attracts them to an electrode of opposite polarity.

Each of the three precipitators has 68 gas lanes that are 24 feet wide and three feet high. Each contains 328 collecting electrodes.

The dust is removed from the plates by pneumatic rappers which cause the dust to fall into hoppers below the precipitators.

After about five seconds in the precipitators, the cleaned gas departs through a venturi stack 18 feet in diameter and 160 feet high.

Granite City Steel has taken three other steps to halt air pollution:

1. Natural gas.

The mill's steam generating plant once burned soft coal, which generates large quantities of flyash.

Today, the boilers are fueled by clean-burning natural gas, when available, or by-product gases or fuel oil when natural gas is in short supply.

The same is true at the company's slush heating furnaces.

Open burning is a thing of the past at Granite City Steel.

Although the mill generates several tons of combustible refuse daily, every day is disposed of at a state-approved sanitary landfill on company property.

3. Vigilance.

Effective pollution control goes beyond millions of dollars worth of modern precipitators, scrubbers, automatic coal charging systems, and even the most up-to-date production facilities.

Results depend on constant attention to the many minor pollution sources around the plant, as well as the comparative handful of major causes.

At Granite City Steel, the on-going plantwide pollution control efforts have resulted in a proved plant operating and maintenance practices and programs that extend past the limits of pollution control equipment.

The field of water pollution is another of the environmental quality control targets.

Granite City Steel needs as much water—75 million gallons per day—as a city of 400,000 inhabitants.

It is drawn from the Mississippi River via the Chain of Rocks Canal. After use, it is treated by the company and discharged into Horseshoe Lake cleaner than when drawn from the Mississippi.

Granite City Steel uses water to cool furnaces, to generate steam for turbines, for pollution control (the washing, cleaning and cooling of gases), to remove scale from rolling mill products, and for quenching coils.

For example, the basic oxygen furnaces use more than 13,000 gallons per minute for cooling purposes.

The company re-uses water several times before discharging it to the approved water treatment system, constructed in 1963.

Size is the key to the effectiveness of lagion treatment systems, and Granite City Steel's biological oxidation system is enormous.

It consists of a 350-acre oval stabilization lagoon that is surrounded by four miles of levee.

The system also includes three small oil skimming ponds and a nine-acre isolation pond for emergency discharges (high in chemical contamination) from the coke quenching station.

Sewage is collected from throughout the plant and delivered to the treatment system via more than three miles of pipe, ranging up to 7½ feet in diameter.

First, mill scale and other solids, oil and other chemical wastes are sent to a settling tank. Then, blast furnace waste water goes into one cell and is held for about 10 days so that chemical substances can be treated. Wastes from the rest of the plant need remain in the second cell only for about 3½ days.

With about 2,200 acres of surface and a mean depth of four feet, Horseshoe Lake is the largest lake in this region.

Near major cities and surrounded by major thoroughfares, the lake is a popular hunting and fishing area.

Although fed by neither natural springs nor streams, Horseshoe Lake abounds with fish and waterfowl.

Large quantities of water are surface runoff from surrounding land, and water cleaned and treated in the Granite City Steel treatment system.

Overflow from Horseshoe Lake goes, via spillway, to the Cahokia Canal and the Mississippi River—again, cleaner than when it left Granite City Steel.

Most of the residents of Madison County will more readily accept a wider range of water quality at four points—as it is drawn from the Mississippi, after treatment in the biological oxidation system, in Horseshoe Lake and in the spillway prior to returning to the Mississippi via the Cahokia Canal.

The tests for a variety of contaminants, re-affirm the effectiveness of the treatment system, which supplies a steady source of cleaner water than Horseshoe Lake would otherwise contain.

The U.S. Department of Conservation is moving ahead with plans to create Horseshoe Lake State Park.

Conservation officials report that almost all of the land has been appraised, and that funds have become available for the acquisition of some of the property in and around the present lake.

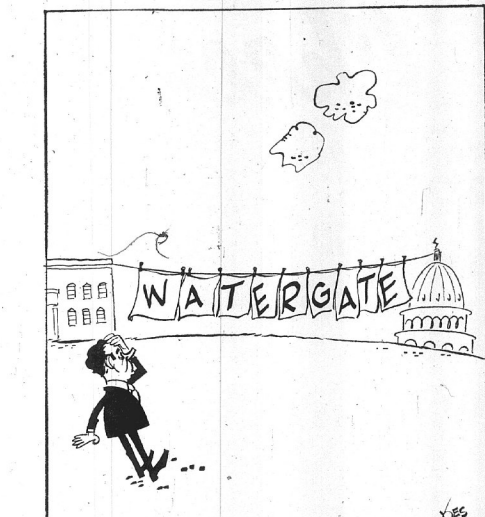

This summer, Granite City Steel will become the nation's first steelmaker to use refuse as a source of iron.

Each day, the company will re-use 20 tons of iron-bearing materials—mostly cans—collected by the City of St. Louis Department of Refuse.

About one-third (300 tons) of the city's combustible trash is trucked to a Union Electric power plant in South St. Louis, where it is burned in place of coal to generate electricity.

County Population Exceeding 300,000 Is Visualized

Excerpts from the proposed 1973 Madison County Plan, reviewed at a public meeting Tuesday, follow:

Proposals regarding the future are based on 14 assumptions—

1. Improved transportation facilities, including a new metropolitan airport and the completion of the Interstate highway system, will link Madison County with all major cities in the state and in the nation.

2. It is assumed that the growth of Madison County as a more important factor in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

3. As traffic congestion continues to increase with the increase in travel by private automobiles and trucks, there will be a demand for a rapid transit transportation system.

4. It is assumed that this system will be under construction in parts of the metropolitan area toward the end of the planning period (1990).

5. It is assumed that north-south transportation movement will be improved.

6. The population of Madison County will range between a low of 281,500 and a high of 311,500 persons in 1980 and between a low of 317,000 and a high of 333,000 persons in 1990.

7. It is assumed that greater coordination will be practiced in developing and expanding water-sewer facilities, especially along the lines of drainage basins and utility districts.

8. The overall levels of income, education, and amount of leisure time of residents of Madison County will continue to rise with the improvements and innovations in technology.

9. It is assumed there will be a gradual but distinct change in the character of residential, commercial and industrial development and the American residential subdivisions, shopping centers and industrial parks.

10. The City of St. Louis will continue to function as the core of the metropolitan area.

11. It is one of the premises of the plan that residents of Madison County will more readily accept a wider range of water quality at four points—as it is drawn from the Mississippi, after treatment in the biological oxidation system, in Horseshoe Lake and in the spillway prior to returning to the Mississippi via the Cahokia Canal.

12. The City of St. Louis will continue to function as the core of the metropolitan area.

13. High-density residential areas are proposed for the area adjacent to the Granite City central business district and near the proposed rapid rail terminal in Granite City.

14. Medium-density residential areas are proposed in areas where the trend is toward lower density housing, including Interstate 270 between Illinois Route 3 and 111.

15. Low-density residential areas are proposed for the area adjacent to the Granite City central business district and near the proposed rapid rail terminal in Granite City.

16. Commercial land use plan proposals are primarily those contained in the individual city plans.

IMRESSED BY YOUNG PEOPLE'S FLOOD WORK

To the Editor:

I would like to put in a few words in behalf of the young people who did such a wonderful job on the sandbagging defense of the levee during the period March 31 through April 5.

I have never had the pleasure of being with a group of people so dedicated. Even though the weather was miserable, cold and raining, and there was a high shrink-well soils, I have been through this situation before, having served more than 20 years in the Army. Yet, those few days did more to restore my faith in the young generation than any other time in my life.

The only time that they requested a break was for coffee or for band-aids to cover the blisters, the latter being much more often.

I would also like to put in a word for the wonderful job the Salvation Army did in providing refreshments for these people. They were very instrumental in it.

It is a wonderful feeling knowing we can still call on our young people in times of emergency and get such a response. My thanks.

MRS. RODERICK BAUDER, the former Miss Mary Frances Lee, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Lee, 1230 Klein St., Venice, who was married at St. Mark Roman Catholic Church in Venice.

St. Mark Church Scene Of Bauder-Lee Nuptials

St. Mark Catholic Church in Venice was the scene of the wedding in the early evening of April 14 of Miss Mary Frances Lee, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Lee, 1230 Klein St., and Roderick James Bauder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick L. Bauder, 708 Third St., Venice.

Twelve brass hurricane aisle standards holding burning tapers illuminated the white carpeted aisle, and arrangements of spring snapdragons, white majestic daisies and white carnations decorated the altar.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 5 o'clock were the Rev. John O'Connell and the Rev. Terry Shea. Wedding selections were provided by the Nereus Hall High School Chorus, directed by Mrs. Arthur Burgett.

Dr. Lee escorted his daughter down the aisle and gave her in marriage. She wore an exquisite gown fashioned of ivory silk organza, Empire in style.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace created the fitted bodice designed with a high neckline. The bishop sleeves, enhanced with a wide band of delicate lace at the elbow to accent the fullness, terminated at the wrists in wide lace cuffs.

The slightly bouffant skirt, sprinkled with lace motifs, swept into a cathedral-length train. Over her hair she wore a full-length mantilla veil lavishly applied and bordered with tiny seed pearls.

The former Miss Lee carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and baby breath, center with a detachable corsage of gardenias.

Miss Peggy Lee, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Bernice Essington, Mrs. Mary Ann Eichhorn, Miss Nancy Sievers, Mrs. Mary Ann Toczylowski, Mrs. Lynda Gallander and Miss Jackie Meletio, a cousin of the groom, were bridesmaids.

They were gowned in identical floor-length frocks of Nile green dimity fashioned with tiered skirts, accented by bands of ivory lace. Each attendant held a French colonial bouquet of spring flowers in pastel shades.

The groom chose Roger Schaffner as his best man, Richard Essington, Robert Eichhorn, Alan Long, Harry Hartman, Gary Callender and John Lee III, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen, Mark Kordansky and John Lee III acted the guests.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception at Bel Air East, St. Louis, later the same evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bauder, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner at the Crest House in St. Louis.

After a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas, Nev., the Mr. and Mrs. Bauder will reside in Venice.

A graduate of Incarnate Word Academy and Fontbonne College, the bride is a physical education and mathematics teacher at Nereus Hall High School in Webster Groves, Mo.

Mr. Bauder, a graduate of Augustinian Academy, attended Belleville Junior College and Southeast Missouri State College. He presently is employed as a patrolman with the Venice Police Department.

Why not sell your home yourself?

If you choose this approach, you run a number of risks. You will be compelled to stay home, waiting for the telephone to ring, or for people to drop in. If you go out you may miss a good prospect.

When the doorbell rings, you never know who is there. It could be one of dozens of real estate people after your listing. Even worse, it could be a total stranger. You have no way of knowing whether he's a qualified buyer, or whether he simply wants to look around.

If he's a prospect and makes an offer, it's frequently low, poorly conceived from your standpoint and not even in writing. You have no assurance that the sales agreement you may reach with such a buyer is secure.

In short, you are asking for trouble.

BETTER TO GO WITH A PROFESSIONAL. A good Realtor can help you avoid those dangers and unpleasant experiences. And as long as you're choosing a broker, it's just good sense and costs no more (maybe less) to choose the best.

Sunrise Service Atop Mountain

The annual Easter sunrise service atop Bald Knob Mountain near Alto Pass, Ill., will begin at 5 a.m. April 22 and last about an hour. Sunrise is at 5:13 a.m. The Rev. William H. There will be ample parking space for cars and trailers. The service this year will be held at the base of the cross. Sponsors of the annual service "invite everyone to arrive early and thrill to the sight of watching a new day being born across the scenic countryside below while listening to the voice of God whispering in the wind and trees." The event is held rain or shine.

Revenue Bonds To Finance New SIUE Housing

The Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University has voted to approve a notice of sale of University Facilities revenue bonds. Series F, to finance construction of additional student housing on the Edwardsville campus.

Bids will be opened at a continued meeting of the board on Tuesday, May 15. The board was advised that Tuesday would be a more favorable day for the sale of bonds than the regular meeting date on Friday, May 11.

The board at its February meeting authorized preparation of a resolution to sell $5.5 million of revenue bonds to finance purchase of a 248-unit student housing complex to be built by the SIU Foundation at Tower Lake on the Edwardsville campus. The bond series will be for a 30-year term with interest not to exceed seven per cent a year.

The foundation authorized a contract with Consumers' Ltd. on April 5 for construction of the project. Actual signing of the foundation contract was awaiting board action and the sale of the bonds.

The Illinois Capital Development Board, meeting in Springfield, had before it a formal resolution to approve the acquisition of the housing project from the foundation.

The project will provide housing for about 1,000 students. The housing will be similar to the existing Tower Lake apartment units, where 548 students live in 31 two-story buildings.

The trustees retained the New York firm of Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander as bond counsel and Midwest Securities Co. of Chicago as fiscal agent for the housing project. Their official statement concerning the bonds was approved Friday.

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, had been authorized previously to transfer title of about 30 acres north of the existing Tower Lake student housing area to the SIU Foundation for the development of the new project.

England's Humble Pie Offers Some New Ideas

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

"Eat It," Humble Pie's new album for A&M Records, is a truly all-around musical achievement. Containing not only the Pie's sensual, guttural rock 'n' roll which typifies the group's recordings and live performances, "Eat It" allows room for indepth exploration of musical ideas that Pie has introduced on their earlier albums.

One side of "Eat It" is a more than token sampling of hard, slashing Pie rock: "Get Down to It," and "Drugs for Cowboys" head the list of Steve Marriott compositions. Another side of the LP looks at Pie's rhythm and blues, incorporating a segment of the group's new stage configuration into the overall sound.

Rocking up front with Marriott are the Blackberries, a trio of some of the best singing ladies in the business. They are Clydie King, Venetta Fields and Billie Barham. Together with Pie they perform some of the greatest rocking soul numbers anywhere, including like Turner's "Black Coffee" the Pie's latest single backed with "That's How Strong My Love Is."

Another "Eat It" side features Marriott's acoustic guitar tunes with "Oh Bella" and "Beckon Dumps." Finally on side four, Live Pie, recorded at Green's Playhouse, Glasgow, roar back stronger than ever, featuring Clem Clemenson's lead guitar, and Marriott's primal scream. Steamy versions of "Honky Tonk Woman" and "Road Runner" along with Pie's newest crowd pleaser "Up the Creek" are samples of what the forthcoming Humble Pie worldwide tour will have to offer.

With new recordings in the planning and execution stages, Humble Pie shows no signs of slowing down. And, according to Marriott, the feature is bright.

"We're keeping a lot of things up our sleeves," he says. "We're not gonna rush things. As long as we keep it up our sleeves, that's the best way."

Perhaps England's hottest emerging band in the seventies, Humble Pie has become known as a group of hard workers, who made it to the top without any super hype backing their side.

Arthur Adams' "It's Private Tonight," on Blue Thumb Records, is nice music from a man who put the words and music down all by himself. Mellow, controlled and sincere sounds can be heard even when the beat steps up.

for the housing project. Their official statement concerning the bonds was approved Friday.

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, had been authorized previously to transfer title of about 30 acres north of the existing Tower Lake student housing area to the SIU Foundation for the development of the new project.

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, had been authorized previously to transfer title of about 30 acres north of the existing Tower Lake student housing area to the SIU Foundation for the development of the new project.

"It's Private Tonight" offer a combination of vocal and instrumental songs that vary from sweet love to cool rock. Despite a couple of weak spots, many of the songs on the album make you want to play it often.

These include the title cut "It's Private Tonight," "Everything I Ever Wanted In A Girl," and "I Gotta Help My People." The two instrumentals, "Go-On And Do That" and "Get On The Ground" testify to some pretty good lead guitar work by Adams. The guys got talent.

The Greatest Hits of Cole Porter (Ampex tapes) will touch the nostalgia of the older set, even some of the youngsters. The orchestra is unidentified, but tunes like "Anything Goes," "Night and Day" and "Begin the Beguine" come through loud and clear. There are nine others and they go well with a blazing fireplace, proper refreshment and a memory for other and better days.

Pianist Glenn Gould dips into the musical world of composers Grieg and Bizet in a Columbia LP (M-3204) just out. Gould plays Grieg's Sonata in E Minor and Bizet's Premier Nocturne and Variations Chromatiques.

The latter is a murky work that Gould describes as "one of the very few masterpieces for solo piano to emerge from the third quarter of the 19th century." Grieg's sonata, written in 1865, is interesting for the way it foreshadows the famed A Minor Concerto that the composer wrote three years later.

When he was 25, a sidelight worthy of note: the eminently talented Gould is a distant descendant of Grieg.

HORWITZ PLAYS SCRIBAIN, Columbia-M31820 — An excellent introduction to the mystic composer who died at 43 while at the height of his creativity. Horowitz plays études from the early Scriabin and follows with later works that delve into the "unfamiliar and dissonant" that confused Moscow's critics in 1913. The famed pianist includes on this LP Scriabin's "Vers La Flamme," a wild, chaotic work said by some to preview a vision of the atom bomb.

Melvin Siener, camp director for the School of Music, has announced. Other staff members will come from the School of Music faculty. The instructional program will include band, chorus, orchestra, piano, stage band, sectional rehearsals, conducting, music listening courses, theory and instrument repair. Students will have the opportunity to attend music and other cultural attractions at SIU, including the Summer Theater productions, faculty and student recitals and activities at the Student Center and the university's Lake-on-the-Campus. ## Wagner Building To House SIUE Art Department

Two buildings at the former Wagner plant in Edwardsville will be remodeled to become the permanent home of the Art Department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The SIU Board of Trustees has approved plans and specifications for the remodeling, which is to cost $17,640. Some Art Department Studios and classrooms have been located at the Wagner site for several years, using inadequate facilities, the trustees were advised. Permanent art facilities were originally planned to be housed in an addition to the Communications Building on the central campus at Edwardsville. Abandonment of plans for a second phase of the Communications Building because of high costs has changed Art Department space requirements at Wagner to a long-term basis. When the remodeling is completed and the Art Department is relocated, a total of 6,956 square feet of classroom space on the central campus will be available for reassignment to other academic programs.

The SIUE capital budget for the fiscal year which began last July 1 includes $115,330 for remodeling, rehabilitation and improvements to campus buildings, including the Wagner properties. The university will use $76,699 from this fund for the Wagner renovation and an additional $40,941 from other sources. The renovation is expected to cost an average $17 per square foot. Most of the work will be done by university personnel. However sheetmetal work, prefabrication work and heating, ventilation and air conditioning work will be contracted to outside vendors through competitive bidding. Bids which are solicited will be received and awarded by the executive committee of the trustees. HALF DOLLARS STOLEN Burglars stole 116 half dollars, a camera and two books of trading stamps at the home of Claude Green, 2414 Illinois Ave., it was reported early this week. Entry was gained through rear windows.

EASTER SERVICES will be held in the unique geodesic dome room of the Religious Center on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. An Easter Vigil "under the stars" will begin at 11 p.m. Saturday, with the Lutheran chaplain, the Rev. Marcus Pera, and the Catholic chaplain, the Rev. James Shortal, directing the activities. Participants in a 5:30 a.m. service Sunday will be able to see the sunrise through the plexiglass dome. The Rev. Russell Wigfield of the United Christian Foundation will be in charge. Reverend Pera and Father Shortal will direct an Easter morning service at 10:30. In planning the Easter services, the campus ministers recall the words of R. Buckminster Fuller, the architect who designed the geodesic dome: "A sense of exact orientation of each human individual within the profound magnificence of the universe is provided by the Religious Center miniature earth. One goes inside to go outside one's self and into the center of the earth and thence outward to the stars in a split second of time."

FSA Selects Owca As Year's Business Teacher

The 1973 Business Teacher of the Year, chosen by secret ballot by members of the Granite City High School Future Secretaries Association, is Norman S. Owca.

The announcement was read to the FSA members at their regular monthly meeting held at Granite City Steel Co. by NSA member Mrs. Edith Hendrick, who conducted the members on a tour of the offices.

Owca was chosen from a field of 17 teachers of business subjects at the local high school. Not included in the contest for BTOTY were FSA faculty advisors Mrs. Judi Sparks and Miss Lucille Aramowicz.

Now in his 11th year of teaching, Owca taught five years at Collinsville High, and this is his sixth year at GCHS. Owca will become the Business Department head at Granite City North this fall when the new school opens.

The FSA members will join with NSA members, sponsors of the high school chapter, for a dinner meeting at Charlie's at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 3. Owca will be a guest, as will da Mathis, Janice Moore, Ruth Miss Aramowicz and Mrs. Sparks.

FSA members with perfect meeting attendance will have one dollar deducted from the cost of their meal. In addition, the Tri-Cities Chapter is paying 50 cents on each FSA member's meal. The cost to students with perfect attendance will be $2 and to all other FSA members $3.

Announcement of the second Miss FSA recipient will be made at the May meeting, and a $50 check will be presented to her by the Tri-Cities Chapter to be used in connection with further schooling. The award is based on a point system, and members have been turning in their points to Ruth Anderson.

All members were reminded to report all points prior to the deadline. Since the $50 award is given to a senior, it has been decided that the junior with the highest number of points will be awarded a similar but smaller prize at the same meeting.

The FSA members, who were taken by bus from the high school to GCHS for the tour, were met by Mrs. Hendrick and escorted on a tour of the various offices. Following the tour, they had their business meeting in the conference room. The meeting was presided over by Vice-President Karen Richardson.

Seventeen senior FSA members have been invited to spend the day in the office with experienced secretaries on Tuesday in observance of Secretaries Week.

Participating will be Shannon Marmion, Donna Lindner, Brenda White, Robin Smith, Ruth Anderson, Sandy Siebert, Debbie Gerkin, Melanie King, Alma Davis, Angela Hall, Cheryl White, Betty Legens, Pam Clay, Sharon Mouser and Karen Gouging.

They will visit offices at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Foster Grandparents, Ralston Purina, Siderer Supply, Amco Plumbing, Metal Services, and SIUE.

At the next monthly meeting on May 1, nomination and election of officers for the 1973-1974 school year will take place.

State School Head Cites 'Epidemic' Of Social Disease

Mumps, measles, rubella, tuberculosis, polio, hepatitis, whooping cough, rheumatic fever and aseptic meningitis are among the more commonly known diseases affecting young people in Illinois.

But last year, one disease not commonly talked about was reported more often than all the aforementioned diseases combined. That disease is venereal disease and it is estimated that only 25% of VD cases treated are ever reported to public health officials, State Instruction Supt. Michael Bakalis reports.

"This alarming fact is of great concern to the Illinois Department of Public Instruction," he said, "especially because a recent Illinois Public Health Department survey shows that the largest percentage increase in reported VD cases was among the 15- to 19-year-old age group—the group normally in high school."

The 1972 survey reported 369 cases of syphilis and 5,566 cases of gonorrhea in Illinois among the 15- to 19-year-olds. The number of cases was up among the 20- to 29-year-old bracket.

More than 52,000 cases were reported from ages 10 to 29, according to the survey, with 15- to 29-year-olds accounting for 58% of them.

"Because so many of the young people affected are of school age, the Office of Public Instruction hopes that local schools working with parents, public health agencies and medical groups can develop programs to help curb the epidemic tide. If the estimate that only 25% of VD cases are reported is correct, there probably are close to 220,000 cases a year in Illinois."

"Specific information and publications about VD, prevention, symptoms and treatment are available from the Illinois Department of Public Health. In addition, the agency also maintains a VD Checkline, a toll free telephone service for help and information," Bakalis noted.

By calling 1-800-252-8889 between noon and 9 p.m. Monday through Friday or noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday, a person may receive confidential information about where treatment is available in every Illinois county.

Gasoline Shortage May Close Stations, Up Price

A nationwide shortage of gasoline has threatened to skyrocket gasoline prices to 50-cents per gallon and possibly higher this summer, and several local independent service stations, supplied by the surplus from major oil refineries, may have to close, it was indicated this week.

Although the first effects of the shortage are just beginning to become noticeable, a major shortage is anticipated in July and August when vacationers demand a greater supply of gasoline.

It has been predicted that one-third of the independent service stations in this area may be forced out of business if the shortage continues into this summer. Some stations already are rationing gasoline and others are shortening hours of operation.

The Connecticut attorney general Monday issued a statement accusing some major oil companies of operating their refineries at less than full efficiency in an effort to drive up the price. He said a nationwide boycott of gasoline may be warranted if the prices rise drastically.

TRUCK, CAR COLLIDE

Five or six boys, about 12 years old, grabbed a red and black change purse with $7 from Lori Wetzel, 8, of 1235 Niedringhaus Ave., at Niedringhaus and Delmar avenues early this week. The boys ran.

CAR TIRES PUNCTURED

The rear tires of the auto of Louis Jakich, 1416 Washington Ave., Madison, were punctured inside his garage this week.

Plan Base Closings

Pentagon officials announced on Monday that 274 Army Navy and Air Force bases may be closed or substantially reduced in function to save about $375 million per year. No specific bases were named. The cuts would eliminate about 16,000 military and 21,000 civilian jobs.

State Board May Limit Its Control Over Leaf Burning

Copy News Service
Springfield—Facing pending legislation allowing uncontrolled open burning of leaves and landscaped waste in Illinois, the Pollution Control Board has proposed action to limit its own controls on open burning.

Additions to the existing air pollution regulations have been proposed by PCB member Donald A. Henss and set for public hearings on April 27 in Springfield, at the City Council chamber, and for April 30 in Rock Island, at the City Council chamber there. Both hearings will start at 10 a.m.

The PCB amendments would refer only to leaves, and would not involve open burning of any other landscaping waste, such as dead trees.

Tough the legislative actions introduced by Rep. Webber Borchers, R-Decatur, would cover all landscape waste including leaves, brush, trees or other natural vegetation — the real difference between the two approaches is that Borchers' bill would deprive the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency of any control over open burning, while the PCB proposal would retain authority for the EPA to ban open leaf burning when air conditions were particularly bad.

Presently, open burning of landscape waste is banned in communities with 2,500 population or more, as well as in adjoining municipalities and in the surrounding 1,000 feet of unincorporated land.

In rural areas of the state, open burning of landscape waste is permitted, if not located within 1,000 feet of a municipality where burning is prohibited.

Specific exceptions are made for the St. Louis and Chicago areas, because air conditions there are regarded by the EPA as poorer generally at all times.

In the two areas, all open burning is banned in a region within 40 miles of Meigs Field in Chicago or within 20 miles of McKinley Bridge in Venice.

The proposed PCB changes are based on the state's compliance with pending federal regulations of air quality, which must be adhered to by 1975.

The amendment would prohibit, before 1975, open burning of leaves in any area with such poor air quality that it cannot meet the federal standards, but would allow open burning of leaves in areas which are within range of meeting these federal standards.

After 1975, open burning of leaves would be banned in any area not meeting federal primary standards.

In the case of short term air quality problems, the EPA would be given the right to issue public notice, banning open burning of leaves for 48 hours if weather conditions predicted by the National Weather Service are such that open burning would probably cause air pollution.

If adopted, the amendment would permit open burning of leaves only on the site where they were generated and only if such burning did not create a visibility hazard on roadways, railroad tracks or airfields.

The EPA would be given responsibility for establishing, as soon as possible, a network for testing air quality, in order to determine when and where open burning of leaves would be banned.

Dr. John Roberts, director of the Air Pollution Control division in the EPA, has said he believes the personnel and technical equipment for such air monitoring are already available, and much of the necessary monitoring is already being done anyway, for other purposes.

The air pollution division earlier had recommended that open burning might be permitted when winds were down the suggestion.

eight miles an hour or more, because such winds would disperse smoke accumulations, and the PCB at that time turned down the suggestion.

School Bus Safety Week April 23-27

The week of April 23 through 27 has been declared by Governor Dan Walker as "School Bus Safety Week in Illinois." It was announced by Michael J. Bakalis, superintendent of public instruction.

The main purposes of the week are to recognize the 16,000 school bus drivers for their proficiency as professional safe motor vehicle operators; to transport 1,000,000 school children daily, to solicit student cooperation in fulfillment of all safe rules and regulations, and to inform the motoring public through an educational program to know when and when not to stop for school buses.

The week also will add emphasis to the objectives of a comprehensive pupil transportation safety program in order to transport students to and from school and school-related activities in the safest possible way.

A review of safety rules will be held in every classroom during the week, according to local school superintendents.

TOOLS STOLEN

Two tool boxes with tools, a socket wrench set, electric grass shears and one case and eight quarts of soft drinks were stolen from the attached garage at the home of Adolph Weiss, 3107 Colgate Place, during the weekend.

BEAGLE, PUPS STOLEN

Paul Jungels, 2541 State St., reported early this week that a four-year-old beagle dog and her three pups, five weeks old, were stolen from his home.

AWNINGS SLASHED

Awnings in front of the Hicken Clothing Store, 408 Madison Ave., Madison, were slashed by vandals overnight, the owner reported during the weekend.

GC Town Board Ok's $247,825 Tax Levy Bill

Granite City Council members, convened as the Town Board, approved Monday night a 1973-74 budget of $332,425 and adopted an ordinance setting the new tax levy at $247,825.

The Town Board also reappointed William Schooley as township attorney for another year and authorized the employment of an auditing firm to audit the township accounts.

The new tax levy calls for extension of $94,575 in the town fund, $149,750 in the general assistance fund, and $3,500 in the municipal retirement fund.

Reduction in the tax levy below the budget figures was made possible by the application of federal revenue sharing funds to all three township accounts.

Itemized tax levy items in the town fund called for total taxes of $119,575, but this was reduced by $25,000 in revenue sharing funds to a levy of $94,575.

In the general assistance fund the full levy would have required $199,750, but this was reduced to the $149,750 figure by application of $50,000 in revenue sharing funds to the income of that account.

The municipal retirement fund budget of $13,500 was reduced to a tax extension of $3,500 by use of $10,000 in revenue sharing funds for that purpose.

Barringer Raked Over State Campaign Donor Disclosures

By AL MANNING
Copy Editor, News Service
Springfield — Dean Barringer of Anna, the unsuccessful candidate for state comptroller who is now the director of the Department of Registration and Education, has a campaign debt of $25,000.
Barringer said he spent about $92,000 in his quest to become the state's chief fiscal officer, but he was able to raise only $67,000.

His Republican opponent, George Lindberg of Crystal Lake, raised twice the amount, $138,000, and spent every penny of it. Their race was the closest of any state-wide contest except the governor's race, with Lindberg winning by 122,642 votes.

Lindberg is the only state-wide candidate to voluntarily disclose the source of his campaign money. Barringer pledged to do so during the campaign, but now he won't do it.

He now claims his books are not in order. Although he did not express any such problems during the campaign, he says the volunteer bookkeepers did not keep records of the money and addresses of the people who donated to the campaign.

Although Barringer was defeated, his cabinet position still puts him in a position to help people who helped him during the campaign. In fact, as director of the department which handles all the licensing for professional people plus other matters, he is in a position to dispense favors to his friends.

Lindberg has taken a lot of heat since it was disclosed that he counted $20,000 of the campaign money as personal income. His backers say that money came from former Gov.

Richard Ogilvie's war chest and went to pay for the house mortgage and other necessary family and business expenses with campaign money.

Although Lindberg has been privately criticized by contributors and politicians alike, at least he deserves credit for publicly disclosing his money sources.

Barringer must figure it is better to take the heat for renegeing on a campaign promise than it is to have sunlight hit his pockets.

As pointed out previously some of the people who had contributed to Lindberg had been repaid with a state job. Although it is not known who contributed to Barringer, it is known that three of the people who worked in his campaign are now employees of his department.

They are: Larry Roth of Springfield, his brother-in-law, $2,172 per month; Joe Davidson Jr. of Carrollton, an advance man during the campaign, $700 per month as a student worker; and William Schmitz of Springfield, his press liaison, $800 per month as a student worker.

Legislation requiring state candidates to disclose their sources of campaign money has been defeated in the House despite all of the rhetoric about its top priority by leaders of both parties.

Although he won't voluntarily disclose his campaign sources, Gov. Dan Walker supported the bill making it mandatory.

All of the talk hasn't been followed up with action. One of the governor's first duties was to be an executive order requiring firms that bid on state work to disclose political donations they have made.

Even if that order is ever issued, its purpose has already been circumvented. The farcical helping pay the governor's campaign deficit, which some say approached $1 million have already kicked in and thus won't be bound by any forthcoming executive order.

Victor DeGrazia, a walker deputy, says the governor still plans to issue the order, but constitutional problems must be overcome first.

While the constitutional problems were being overcome, Walker fund-raisers were raking in a cool $75,000 Thursday evening at the Holiday Inn East. Much of it came from highway contractors.

EPA Sending Smoke Signs Against Blue Spring Sky

By JOAN MURARO
Copy Editor, News Service

Springfield — Quick, Marlon, the wet blanket! They're sending smoke signals over there! It isn't Wounded Knee, but Strained Eye, as the group peers upward at the white smoke and the black smoke, puffing against the blue spring sky and whipped cream clouds.

The signals aren't being sent by A. I. M., but E. P. A.—that's right, the people charged with making other people quit fouling the air with smoke, black or white.

It won't do any good to call out the cavalry, though—the EPA doesn't really speak with forked tongue. They've gotten a permit to emit the smoke.

Fred L. Smith, EPA source emission specialist, is the man in charge of the blue machine which belches controlled clouds of smoke for students.

Giving the trailing plumes of smoke their full attention are some 15 to 20 smoke surveillance personnel from the EPA's division of air pollution control, charged with watching for air pollution violations in the state's five regions.

To do their job, they must be certified each six months. They earn certification by reading

Smith's smoke signals accurately. In terms of density measured percentage-wise from zero through 100%.

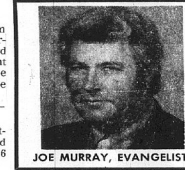

A variation of 20% or more on any one reading out of the dozens included in each test, and the whole test is a failure and must be done again, to earn a certified rating.

The machine, known appropriately enough as a smoke generator, burns benzene and diesel oil to produce black smoke, and atomizes diesel oil for the white.

The density of the smoke each time is recorded automatically on a nearby recorder, permitting accurate grading of the student's interpretations of the degree of pollution represented.

In all, about 40 surveillance persons as well as a few representatives of private industry or municipal governments, will spend two days each in a four-day school being held at the day labor office of the State Department of Transportation.

After the two days of training they can, presumably, return without reservation to their home caps, prepared to cut 'em off at the smokestack if the signals read too-in-u-ch.
